		Capped lift assist cylinders. Found they did hold up planter and didn't leak internally. Master and slave lift cylinders would not hold up planter and found that piston rephrasing valve was faulty. Also found rephrasing valve seats were wore in pistons. Rebuilt master and slave cylinders with seal kits and new pistons with new rephrasing valves already installed. Reinstalled cylinders. lifted planter and checked for settling. Planter only dropped 1/16th of inch over night.
